Council Withholds Its Support From Development Proposals

by Heather E. Peterson

City Councilmembers and representatives of developers have agreed that further discussion is needed before council decides whether to support plans for two Greenbelt East developments.

At its July 10 meeting, council listened to proposals for the development of the two properties. Greenway Villas, formerly known as the Sunrise tract, is located at the end of Hanover Drive next to the Holiday Inn, and consists of 10 acres. The other tract, Smith-Ewing Lot II, is a five-acre property northeast of the intersection of Hanover Parkway and Ora Glen Drive.

Contract purchasers Daniel Colton and James Herl presented the development plans for the Smith-Ewing lot. Herl also aided Don Hachey of the Shapiro Company with his presentation on the Greenway Villas proposal.

Greenway Villas

The Shapiro Company has proposed to divide the Greenway villas property into two lots. One lot would consist of a four-story senior citizen building, while the other would consist of mid-rise condominium apartments. The city staff has recommended rejecting the proposal, stating in a memo that the plans "do not meet zoning requirements with respect to green space and parking. In staff's assessment, this indicates that the density on the site is too great."

Hachey argued that city staff had misunderstood his earlier presentation. The development plan for the senior citizen project meets the county's parking, green space and density requirements, he said. However, the city's Advisory Planning Board (APB) had recommended that more parking be added. Adding such parking would require the developers to cut back on the green space, so that they would no longer meet the green space zoning requirements.

"The problem with this plan is that it's been a moving target."

— Roberta McCarthy
APB Chair

According to Hachey, the current plan for the condominium project meets the county's parking requirements but not its green space requirements. Hachey said that his company proposed to eliminate a building and cut back on parking in order to provide more green space. In that case, Hachey said, the condominium project would meet green space and parking requirements "with a small variance."

The city staff had agreed to the idea of cutting back on parking but said in a memo that the parking waiver "should not be approved as a means to reach a minimum green space requirement."

Herl said that the developers are willing to make further changes to the plan if it would please the city. He said, "we'd like to find out what you'd like to see."

APB Chair Roberta McCarthy seemed to feel that the developers' flexibility was not an advantage. "The problem with this plan all along has been that it has been a moving target," she told the council. McCarthy said that the final plan needs to meet minimum parking and green space requirements, adding that, in her opinion, "this community deserves" more than the minimum.

McCarthy concluded, "I think that whatever is brought to a work session, to council, or to APB at this point needs to be the final rendition so that we can make a decision."

Hachey agreed to submit another plan for review by city staff.

Restaurant Development

The Smith-Ewing lot II development proposal is also undergoing changes.

In discussing this lot, the council had to deal with the question of the lot's location as well as its use. The developer hopes to build three single-story restaurants. The city staff recommended against the project, feeling that the restaurants should not be built next to residences, and that the restaurants would create too much traffic.

Colton said the restaurants would probably house what he described as "family restaurants": the Outback Steakhouse, an Italian restaurant owned by Outback, and either

Threat to Close Goddard Defeated, at Least for Now

by Elaine Skolnik

Members of Maryland's Congressional delegation, U.S. Senators Barbara Mikulski and Paul Sarbanes and Governor Parris Glendening responded last week with heavy artillery to a House Appropriations subcommittee's proposal to close NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt. Leading the bi-partisan effort to block the proposal was Congressman Steny Hoyer who represents many of Goddard's employees.

At press time, it appeared that the quartet's efforts were successful. When the full House Appropriations Committee finished its "markup," the proposal to close Goddard was gone. So, however, was 25% of the requested appropriation for Goddard's "Mission to Planet Earth," according to both Hoyer's office and Goddard.

Hoyer said, "I will work to oppose this cut and will work with Senators Mikulski and Sarbanes to restore these funds when the Senate considers this legislation."

"Senseless" Proposal

The surprise move by the subcommittee to transfer Goddard employees within three years to California stunned Maryland lawmakers. The proposal was characterized as "senseless" from "either a scientific or a cost-cutting point of view."

In an effort to torpedo the proposal, Congressman Hoyer called for concerted action by Maryland lawmakers. A press conference, held on Capitol Hill on July 12, was followed by a rally at Goddard on July 14. Federal, state and local officials, including Greenbelt's Mayor Antoinette Bram, attended along with 500 employees.

In a show of solidarity with their audience, speakers expressed appreciation for the outstanding work done by Goddard employees and vowed to keep the facility open.

Politics a Factor

Politics was apparently a factor in the move to shut down Goddard. The sponsor of the proposal was California Congressman Jerry Lewis, a Republican who heads the subcommittee that is charged with making spending decisions to carry out the GOP goals of a balanced budget. He held no hearings on the issue.

According to the Baltimore Sun (July 13), Lewis said, "he squeezed $130 million from Goddard and two other NASA space centers because he couldn't get votes to curb proposed increases in veterans' programs."

Senator Sarbanes argued, "It will not save money as Representative Lewis... claims. You simply can't move over $1 billion worth of equipment and facilities and 10,000 employees and expect to achieve any savings.... Moreover, it is physically impossible to shoe-horn Goddard into the JPL's (NASA's Jet Propulsion Lab) 170 acre campus in Pasadena." Goddard is located on 1100 acres.

An angry Senator Mikulski said that she was organizing a coalition to

See THREAT

From Russia With Love

by Millie O'Dea

This story is true. The names have not been changed to protect the innocent, as all are guilty -- of love!

Greg Kulic, who owns the business and manages Old Greenbelt Citgo, and his wife, Tammy, have brought to this country two beautiful children from far-away Russia and this is their story.

It all begins with the immigration, around 1900, of Greg's grandparents-- his mom's parents from Czechoslovakia and his Dad's parents from Ukraine. Both sets of grand-parents settled near Scranton, Pa. Greg grew up in a family of six children. Tammy is one of four. When Greg and Tammy married, they knew they wanted a large family. But their first child, Alexandra, now four, was followed by a miscarriage.

Because they did not want a large gap in the ages of siblings, as one spouse spoke of adopting, the other immediately agreed. Greg's mother, who speaks Russian, had gone to Russia with her husband for a visit in 1977, was about to watch a dream unfold.

The couple became involved in Adopted Family Network, where they attended adoption classes. Ellen Perry of College Park, who had adopted a Russian child, led some of the classes. Greg and Tammy heard the stories of other adoptive parents and then through World Child, an American agency that works with the Frank Foundation, were able to locate two children in an orphanage in Saratov, Russia.

Just ten days before leaving for Russia, Greg and Tammy received one photograph of each child and had to make their final commitment for adoption. There was no doubt for either and once that decision was made, the finances were worked out-- a total of $30,000 for all expenses involved in the adoption. The orphanage itself received only $1,000 per child.

At the recommendation of the Frank Foundation, Greg and Tammy packed suitcases full of infant Tylenol, bandages, Q-tips, syringes, tongue depressors, coloring books, crayons and gifts for the many Russians who were to be part of the scenario. They were told that one tongue depressor was used repeatedly on many children and that all of these items, so available to Americans, were needed in the orphanage.

Arrival in Russia

The arrival in Moscow was scary-- especially meeting Sergei, who did not have their names, nor did they know what he looked like. Sergei carried a sign carrying the name of a member of the Frank Foundation and Tammy was quick to pick up on the clue. A large sum of cash was given, on the spot, to Sergei, who was to see them through on every detail. And he did.

First, he packed them and their suitcases into a tiny car and took them to Tatiana's, a Russian woman, who provided them with a room in her flat, which they shared with her two sons, her mother, a dog and another American couple also there for an adoption, from Germantown, Maryland.

Tatiana's flat was in the heart of Moscow, just a short walk from the Russian White House. Although there was daylight until 11 p.m., Greg and

Fifty Years Ago Toes Get Stepped on

February, 1945—The Greenbelt Cooperator (now known as the News Review) printed the following editorial with the above headline.

"People keep telling us that last week we didn't put in enough news, that we put in too much, that it wasn't in the right place, that it was left out altogether. (Every now and then they say that something was just right.)

"Make no mistake about it, we love to hear from our readers when they're hurling brickbats. We want you all to feel that this is your paper, and we need to hear about our mistakes just as much as we need occasionally to bask in your praise. And make no mistake, we feel as exasperated over sins of omission and commission as you do.

"We'd just like to patiently point out once more, with no apologies that we're staffed by volunteers keeping outrageous hours to see that you're informed. . . .

"If you think the paper is just too terrible, how about coming on down here to help us improve it?"

Open Letter

To Greenbelt Residents:

I would like to thank all Greenbelters for their patience during our recycling program transition. Collection, for most parts of our community, has gone smoothly. Admittedly, there have been a few complications, mostly in the GHI courts. In addition, the heat has added to the stress of collection. Our new recycling collector, Dawes Hauling, Inc., has been working hard to learn the areas and Ramon Dawes assures me that city collection is improving as his workers become more familiar with Greenbelt's unique layout.

The overall recycling program has added more convenience to residents by including mixed paper in the curbside collection program. This change has placed Greenbelt with municipalities at the leading edge of recycling programs. The county does not include mixed paper in its program.

As a last note, large cardboard boxes cannot be picked up unless they are folded flat or cut into pieces no larger than two feet by two feet. The boxes must be flattened so they can fit into the truck's side compartment. The Recycling Drop-Off Center at Buddy Attick Park will remain open to accommodate area residents, particularly those living in apartments. If there are any questions, please call Recycling Coordinator Tracy Vincent at 474-8304.

This is an exciting time for recycling in Greenbelt. I hope you feel the same way. Thanks for your patience as the transition progresses.

Mir Over Greenbelt

Some members of the Greenbelt Astronomy Club were able to see the Space Shuttle Atlantis and the Russian Space Station Mir during the recent historic docking mission using a five inch RFT telescope and binoculars.

On Tuesday evening, June 27, Don Haxton saw Mir at about 10:15 p.m. with the naked-eye and binoculars before it disappeared in the Earth's shadow. A couple minutes later, the Space Shuttle Atlantis was seen, following the same track, before it too disappeared in the planet's shadow. The shuttle was much brighter than Mir at the time.

After the two were docked, they were seen again on Friday evening by Don. This time he used a five-inch RFT and noticed a shape to it. He said it looked like a star with a spike coming off it. Later, on Monday, July 3, I was lucky to see the spacecrafts docked during a twilight pass. I saw a distinct double shaped object when they were closest, or highest in the sky for about half a minute. They were estimated to be only 20 arc seconds apart then. They were yellow in color. At about 9:56 p.m. a burst of white material was seen coming from them. This cloud expanded and disappeared quickly. Mir and Atlantis could be seen with the naked-eye as it went below Jupiter. It was lost in the trees at about 9:59 p.m. EDT. My wife, Lynne Gilliland, also saw the pair. She used binoculars for observations and also saw it with the naked-eye.

For those of you who didn't see this historic docking event, NASA is planning six more Mir-shuttle docking events for practice building Space Station Alpha. A larger telescope or binoculars with more magnification would be better, but much more difficult to track.

Re-Recycling

Please allow me to make the following three remarks about re-recycling: First, newspaper and mixed paper can be collected loose in a permanent "RECYCLE" container. All we have to do is dump newspapers, junkmail, (including window-envelopes), cardboard and paperboard, magazines, telephone books, and white and colored paper in one permanent RECYCLE container and set this container out at the curb on recycling-pick-up-day. That's all. A container becomes a permanent RECYCLE container by putting RECYCLE stickers on it. Our Recycling Coordinator, Tracy Vincent, will provide these stickers upon request: Her phone number is 474-8308.

Second, some people have asked: "since the city receives a payment for the sale of the collected mixed paper, how come we are charged $15 per year?" The answer is simple: The income from the mixed paper sale balances part, but not all, of the cost of the weekly house-to-house collection of recyclables. Daws Refuse has invested in specially equipped recycling collection vehicles. This, of course, costs money. As far as I can see it, we got a terrific bargain. For a little over a buck per month we not only save ourselves a great amount of work, but with recycling becoming so much easier, we will, as a community, vastly increase our total recycling volume.

And last, but not least, I want to stress the role our recycling coordinator, Tracy Vincent--bolstered by the encouragement and support of her boss, Public Works Director Carl Hirsch--has played in putting this new city undertaking into place. As a member of the Recycling Advisory Committee I have been privileged to get a close view of their efforts. And believe you me: without them we might very well have had to stay with the much more expensive and much less efficient county program. Many, many thanks.

Cemetery Theft

I was very upset on Wednesday, July 12 when I went to visit Vinnie at the Cemetery and found that someone had stolen the coins from the belt buckle of the Power Ranger left there.

Whoever did this had to have visited the cemetery between 6 p.m. on Tuesday July 11 and 5:30 p.m. the next day.

I can't believe that someone would take something from a cemetery. I want the person who took the coins to know that Vinnie saw you. He knows who you are, so please return them to the cemetery.

My feelings are don't visit the cemetery if you can't respect others. It's bad enough that I don't have Vinnie here with me anymore. All I have are memories, so please have the kindness not to touch our things.

Not Appropriate

This is about the City Paper, which now can be found in the downstairs free handouts area at Greenbelt Library. While I have occasionally valued the City Paper for its thoughtful articles and for its comprehensive portrayals of entertainment and dining out in D.C., I cannot agree with the library's judgement that it is appropriate material for underage persons.

My suggestion is that Greenbelt adults expose themselves to the ads (big and small) in this paper just as some Greenbelt youth will be exposed to them. Then they should follow their consciences.

Condolences to Alex Chavrid and family on the death of his mother, Catherine Chavrid.

Greenbelters were saddened to learn of the death of former longtime Greenbelt resident Vincent Caruso, who died July 13 in DeLand, Florida.

Congratulations to Rose and Mat Amberg on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary on July 21. They would like to hear from their friends. Their daughter Margaret will compile a memory book based on cards, photos and other remembrances. The Ambergs are longtime Greenbelt residents.

David and Tenna Morse are pleased to announce the birth of their daughter, provisionally named Claire (characteristically Dad dithered too long to make the deadline), on July 14, 1995. The baby weighed 7 lbs., 3 oz. Mother, baby, and big brother Joe are doing fine. Dad is a reporter for this newspaper.

South Carolina State College has signed on Karl Thomas as a track and field prospect. Karl, who graduated from ERHS in June, was the Maryland state champion in the 800 meters and was also a junior national qualifier in the event.

Kimberly Bradshaw and Noel Harrison of Capitol Heights are happy to announce the arrival of their son, Brandon Marsalis Bradshaw, who was born at Prince Georges Hospital on July 3, weighing 6 lb., 9 oz. Kim works in the city offices as an office assistant.

Glad to hear that Bernie McGee is recuperating at home after knee surgery. Mend quickly -- we need you! Bernie is a valuable member of the News Review family.

Ashley Nicole Townsend was born to Brian and Melissa Townsend on Friday, July 7. Brian works for the city for horticultural services.

Lucille Lushine, a resident of Greenbelt for over 50 years, has moved to a Seniors apartment in Silver Spring. Lucille, an active bridge and piano player, will miss her home and community. She would welcome hearing from her friends. Her new phone number is (301)588-7629. Her new address is 2201 Colston Dr. Apt. 504, Silver Spring, MD 20910.

Appointment Please Greenbelt Resident

A recent letter from Montevideo, Uruguay, informed Arther Gropp, of Crescent Road, of the appointment of Luis Alberto Musso as Director General of the National Library of Uruguay. [Akin to the Library of Congress here.] The appointment was made personally by the President of Uruguay, Dr. Julio Sanguinetti. The news is especially gratifying as Luis Musso was one of the earliest graduates of the Library School in Montevideo, founded in 1943 by Mr. Gropp, who also served as its director for several years.

Subsequently, a law was passed by the Uruguayan legislature, requiring most professional personnel hired to work in official libraries in the country to be graduates of the Library School, which for many years now has granted a Masters Degree in Library Science.

Gropp was in Montevideo from 1942-1950 primarily as organizer and director of the "Biblioteca Artigas-Washington," an American-sponsored library open to the public. Both the American Library and the Uruguayan Library School continue to be flourishing institutions in that country.

Arther Gropp and his wife, Dorothy, who also taught in the Library School in its infancy, are retired and have lived in Greenbelt since 1971.

Swim Team News

by Amanda Baldauf
& Christine Maher

On July 15, the Greenbelt Swim Team ventured to the Belair Swim & Racquet Club in Bowie to swim in the intense heat. Unfortunately, despite the great efforts of all our committed and dedicated swimmers, we were defeated with a final score of Greenbelt, 265.5; BSR, 271.6 (Just a 6 point difference.)

Even though we did not win this time, everyone swam their best and we are very proud of the great effort everybody put into the meet. There were many close races that pushed our swimmers to try even harder.

Triple winners for this meet were Ryan Hardy, age 9, Kate Hilton, 12, William Kim, 8, and Katrina Schwartz, 9. High point winners were Santiago Berdichevsky with 12 points, Aruna Inversin with 11 points, and Michelle Stickels with 10 points.

On Monday, July 17, we had our annual mile swim race. The girls' winner was 12-year-old Katie Hilton and the boys' winner was 15-year-old, Shawn Hardy. Teenage girls Michelle Stickels and Christine Maher placed second and third, respectively, while Alexandre Friere da Silva and Aruna Inversin placed second and third for the boys. Great job, guys!

Our coaches, Gail Drake and Sarah Lofgren, thank those who participated in our 30-lap race.

Teresa Riedel, our 8 & under coach, thanks Nathaniel Snyder for accepting the challenge of swimming the 500 meter race. He swam the race in 11 minutes and 7 seconds, a commendable time for a 7-year-old.

On Tuesday, July 18, we had our Swimathon to help raise funds. The team and their parents would like to thank those who sponsored our swimmers.

Our final dual meet is this Saturday, July 22, against Lancaster Neighborhood Swim Team at their pool. The following weekends we will host divisionals and welcome all of our dedicated readers to come cheer us on to victory.

Greenbelt Residents Will Collaborate in Recitals

Cellist Samuel Swift and pianist Naoko Takao, Greenbelt residents, will collaborate in two recitals featuring the complete works for cello and piano by Ludwig Von Beethoven. Composed from 1796 until 1815, Beethoven's five sonatas and three sets of variations chronologically span virtually the entire period of his creative output, and convey his diversity of style and expression.

Swift and Takao have performed widely in solo and chamber music settings throughout North America and the orient.

The two recitals will take place at the Memorial Chapel at the University of Maryland on Thursday, July 20 and Friday, July 28, both at 7:30 p.m., Admission is free, but donations are suggested. For more information call Naoko Takao at 474-9443.

Catherine Chavrid

Catherine Machin Chavrid of Berwyn Heights died July 12. Mrs. Chavrid was a former Greenbelter. She and her late husband, Vladimir and their family had lived at 1 Northway.

She is survived by her son, Alexander V. Chavrid, Greenbelt; and daughter Janet Chavrid, Laurel; granddaughters, Christine Pressau and Natasha Jewell; sisters Pauline Mitchko and Anna Evart; and five great-grandchildren.

Vincent Caruso

Former Greenbelter Vincent Caruso died Thursday, July 13 in DeLand, Florida. Mr. Caruso retired from the Veteran's Administration after 33 years where he specialized in construction and hospital design. He raised his family in Greenbelt.

In Greenbelt he was very active in civic affairs. He was a member of the first committee to plan the Labor Day Festival, and was the chairman of the first festival in 1955.

He is survived by three sons, James Vincent Caruso, Laurel; Lewis Anthony Caruso, Spokane, Washington; and Ronald Rae Caruso, Jacksonville, Florida; sisters Jane Caruso, New York, NY; Marie Scarinzi, Helen Adamo, and Joan DeClemete, Lauderdale, Florida; 12 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services were held July 17 in the Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints in DeLand.

Smithsonian Needs Volunteer Guides

The National Portrait Gallery, Smithsonian Institution's Museum of American History and Biography, needs volunteers to help with its education programs for adults and elementary school age children. Volunteers conduct tours in the museum and visit local classrooms to make presentations on American history and art. No teaching experience is required, but an interest in young people and ability to travel to schools in the Washington metropolitan area are important. Training sessions for new volunteers will take place on Mondays and Wednesdays from September through November. To join the National Portrait Gallery tour guide program or for more information, call Leni Buff at (202) 357-2920 x 5.

Community Church Wins Holy Sole Award, Again

The Greenbelt Community Church recently won the Holy Sole award for being the church with the most members participating in Crop WALK, an annual event to raise money for hunger relief. The church had 100 participants with many Greenbelters taking part.

People could walk one of several routes. Joe Pugliese was the youngest to walk one route, Alberta Tompkins the oldest to walk the long route, and John Kramer was the oldest person to walk. This is the third time the community church has won the Holy Sole award in the last five years.

On Sunday, May 21, 466 walkers from close to 20 churches in the area participated in the 15th Annual Hyattsville CROP walk. It is the second largest CROP walk in the state of Maryland.

Churches participating from the Greenbelt area included: Greenbelt Community (United Church of Christ), Greenbelt Baptist, Berwyn Presbyterian, Good Samaritan Lutheran and Holy Redeemer Catholic.

Walkers started and ended their routes at Hyattsville First United Methodist Church on Queens Chapel Road. Walkers had several routes to choose from ranging from a little over a mile to seven miles. Walkers had sponsors who contributed whatever amount they chose regardless of how far the participants walked.

CROP is the community arm of Church World Service which is the hunger relief and development agency for 30 Christian denominations. $24,000 has been raised this year and funds continued to come in. Twenty five percent of that amount stays in Prince Georges County to buy food for Help by Phone's nine food pantries. The rest is distributed ecumenically by Church World Service to the neediest areas in the world. Besides food relief, CWS supplied seeds, tools, clean water technology and education for the hungry so they may become self-sufficient.

First Deliverance/Revival in the Washington Metropolitan Area

Faith Ministries, in conjunction with Hegewisch Baptist Church of Indiana (the oldest and renowned deliverance Church in the U.S. and whose deliverance services have been televised on national networks) will be conducting a three day deliverance/revival in the Washington Metropolitan Area from August 18th thru 20th, 1995.

This deliverance/revival is the first of its kind to be hosted in this area and you are cordially invited to attend. Guest speaker is Dennis Hauter, Pastor of Hegewisch Baptist Church.

Come and witness the mighty power of God at work during our mass deliverance services. It will be a lifetime experience!

For registration materials, you may call (301) 441-4935 or write

Faith Ministries, P.O. Box 865, Greenbelt, MD 20768.

Revival will be held at:
40 Ridge Rd.
Greenbelt, MD 20770.

A Good Neighbor

Maryland Neighborly Networks, an agency in College Park providing residential services to adults with developmental disabilities, is looking for volunteers to share their interests and abilities with an adult in their neighborhood. This is a great opportunity to meet people and enrich the life of another. Training is provided and hours are flexible.

For more information call the Prince George's Voluntary Action Center, Inc., at (301)699-2800.

Recycling Corner

The curbside recycling program and associated processors are only prepared to accept soda bottles, milk-water jugs and liquid laundry detergent bottles. That's because there are practical applications for the "post-consumer" material. To recycle used containers, be sure to rinse containers thoroughly, then remove and discard all caps. For more information about recycling, call the City Recycling Coordinator, Tracy Vincent at 474-8308.

Magazine and Book Five and Dime Sale

Novel Endings Bookstore, in the Greenbelt Library, will hold a "five-and-dime" sale of magazines and books on Saturday July 22, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sale will be held downstairs in the former typing room located past the bookstore and near the stairs leading to the main level of the library.

All magazines will be a nickel, and all books in the room will cost a dime each. Prices in the main bookstore cost a dime each, and will not be affected by the sale.

Barbara Tanen, coordinator of the bookstore, hopes the sale will provide inexpensive reading materials for summer vacations while bringing in revenue for worthwhile projects at Greenbelt Library and other county system branches.

Access Television Coming to Greenbelt

by Beth Alegret

If all goes as planned, Greenbelt Access Television, Inc. (GATE) will be broadcasting from the new community center in September, 1995. GATE is public access television which will allow Greenbelt residents to broadcast programs that fall within programming guidelines, i.e., programs must not be profit-seeking, or contain indecent material, or contain material in support of any political candidates. GATE will offer programs and announcements about community events and issues such as recreation announcements, artistic, environmental, health, educational and civic news.

At a recent meeting with council, Konrad Herling and Doug Love presented programs GATE had produced in the past, including Little League Baseball, New Deal Cafe Coffee house and an art exhibition by the late Dial Silvers. Herling said GATE hopes to produce a monthly segment similar to the MacNeil-Lehrer Report and would feature key current topics in Greenbelt.

GATE, with the help of a grant of $152,600 given to the city by Maryland Cable through franchise negotiations made this spring, will be able to purchase three new cameras to replace the inadequate existing cameras. GATE president, Robert Zugby, would also like to use the funds to hire a Programming Coordinator, who would maintain equipment, coordinate program scheduling and fund raising. The salary and other expenses will eventually be paid through grants and fund raising proceeds.

According to Greenbelt's public Information and Communications Coordinator, Beverly Palau, GATE programming could run on Greenbelt Municipal Access Channel B-10. Palau recommended that Channel B-10 allow GATE programming on two set days per week to promote a definite separation of programming between GATE and Municipal television.

GATE will need volunteers to help the Programming Coordinator, who will offer training to those volunteers.

"SKETCH BOOKS" Exhibit At U.M. Gallery

"Sketchbooks" will be exhibited at the University of Maryland from July 19 to August 22.

This exhibit will feature sketchbooks by local artists. The focus of the exhibit is based on the idea of an artist collecting elements for artistic exploration. "Sketchbooks" includes the study of various subject matter through the intimate scrutiny that the format lends. Artists in the exhibit work with a range of mediums and explore nature, color, and a variety of content.

The exhibit will be in the Parent's Association Gallery located on the second floor of the Stamp Student Union. Gallery hours are Mondays through Fridays 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

An opening reception is to be announced. For info call 314-8493.

From Russia...

Tammy had only a short snatch of sightseeing. The next day they were at the U.S. Embassy and then on a train with Sergei and his friend, Victor, and the other American couple in a "cabin," facing an 18-hour train ride. As they talked with Sergei and Victor, they learned that Sergei had been a radar operator with the Russian military missiles. When the military was downsized four years earlier, he was let go. Victor, a structural engineer, was out of a job.

The arrival in Saratov on the Volga River and reminding them of Georgetown was a welcome relief. They checked into a hotel, had dinner, and were watched carefully for some reaction when the musicians played an American piece.

Red tape for the adoptions took time and some maneuvering, as the children were from two different districts. This meant that two different courts had to be addressed with petitions for adoption. The two districts afforded the couple some initial insights into the children's backgrounds, as there was a sharp contrast between the two.

Once the petitions were granted, Greg and Tammy went to the orphanage to claim their children. When asked if they knew whether or not the children were healthy, they shared that often things were made up and put on the child's record, as the courts would not allow healthy Russian children to leave the country. Because of this practice Greg and Tammy were not at all sure what to expect. But they knew in their hearts and agreed with each other that no matter what the health of either or both children, they were going to adopt them and bring them home.

Meeting the Children

The couple have a videotape of their time in the orphanage soon after they met the children for the first time. The little girl seemed overwhelmed "like a little scared puppy" which caused a doubtful emotion in Tammy about what they were doing in taking the children away from what they knew. Tammy emerged from that pain by looking to the future, knowing the adoption was good. She was grateful for her Russian before the trip, as she was able to repeat soothing words and "I love you" in Russian, over and over again to calm the little girl. They renamed the children to make it easier for them as they grew into their new identity in America.

The little girl, then 23 months, was named Anastasia and the boy, 16 months, was named Victor Sergei. They dressed their children in clothes they had brought with them from America—way too big—and then stood viewing, with great sensitivity, as the caregivers at the orphanage bid the children goodbye. The Director handed the new parents a handwritten schedule for the children written in Russian.

At the train station once again, heading back to Moscow, they were ushered onto a train that originated in Kazakhstan, a republic caught up in civil war. The train was in terrible condition—broken windows, fighting in the aisles—and they were told to go to their cabin, lock the door and not come out until they reached Moscow. All night long, people were trying to open the door to their cabin. Fortunately, said Tammy, "The children were wonderful and slept most of the time." In Moscow, it was back to the American Embassy and then the flight home.

Once home, the children were examined by doctors. Other than Victor's vision problem, taken care of by surgery, the children were healthy and they remain so a year later.

The Family at Home

Alexandra, the couple's four-year-old, at first wanted the children sent back. But one year later, she shows a bit of proud possessiveness - "they are my brother and sister." Tammy said that family and neighbors have helped tremendously and lovingly in the transition. Greg said, "Nothing bothers Victor." And although Anastasia is still a bit overwhelmed when in a crowded place, Tammy said it took them both only a couple of months to adjust.

Tammy compared the entire event as "like childbirth." It was painful, emotion-filled, overwhelming at times and wonderful. She and Greg are now in the process of choosing perhaps a Russian name for the baby that Tammy now is carrying. The new addition to this loving family is expected in October.

City Notes

All softball and baseball fields were prepared for league play, a trench was excavated for installation of electric lines at Braden Field and sod was placed behind the Recreation Center. Two Recreation Dept. vans were serviced and a wheel chair lift was repaired on the Greenbelt Connection van. Interior renovations at the Youth center continued.

fight the Lewis proposed plan in the Senate. Such an effort, she stressed, would also be bi-partisan.

Governor Glendening warned, "If this proposal goes through, it will be devastating for the State of Maryland." The proposal would have affected more than just federal workers—about 9,000 of the 12,000 jobs at Goddard are private sector contract workers.

City Response

Greenbelt Mayor Antoinette Bram's protest on behalf of the city council drew attention to the fact that Goddard's "physical plant possesses an estimated worth of $2.85 billion, reflecting facilities, infrastructure and land value." In her July 13 letter to federal, state and local officials, she also pointed out that Goddard "generates $2.1 billion in gross output sales and $904 million in annual employee income. The civil servants alone at the Goddard Space Center generate $36 million in state personal income tax, and $8.5 million in state retail tax revenues."

Not Over?

This may just be the first fight. According to Goddard press office, the appropriations bill still calls for studying possible future closing of NASA centers.

Governor Parris N. Glendening discusses the economic impact of Goddard Space Flight Center at a July 12 news conference following a meeting with Senator Barbara A. Mikulski (left), Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, other members of Maryland's Congressional delegation and officials from NASA headquarters and Goddard. State and NASA officials met to discuss Maryland's response to a House subcommittee vote to close Goddard and move its jobs to NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California.

Early Closing OF Outdoor Pool

The Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center outdoor pool will close at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, July 25th for a swim meet. In the event of cancellation, the meet will be postponed to Wednesday, August 2nd.

The indoor pool is closed from 6pm-8pm for open swim.

How to Fund Your Children's College Education

A college education is expensive. One year at an Ivy League college now costs well over $20,000. If costs keep rising at the current rate, the freshmen entering Harvard in the year 2000 will spend well over $200,000 for their education.

And college costs continue to rise significantly faster than the general inflation rate.

That amounts to a lot of money! How can anyone afford it?

Fortunately, there are answers. We've included some of the best in our free video, A Parent's Guide to COLLEGE INVESTMENT PLANNING. It'll help you sort through all the possibilities and show you alternatives that will help you fund your children's or grandchildren's education.

Mystery Resolved

The picture, above, that was printed in the News Review several weeks ago, is of a training fire that the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc. held in June of 1990. The house was a vacant structure that was donated to us for training purposes. It is a rare occasion for the department to get a house or building to burn for this purpose. After all of the training is completed it is a tradition for the participating firemen to pose for a group picture in front of the structure before it is burned to the ground. This house was in the 10100 block of Good Luck Rd., Lanham.

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Officers responded to a report of a dispute involving a handgun at a residence in the 100 block of Westway on Thursday, July 13. One suspect attempted to get the victim to come outside by knocking at the door. During the dispute, a second suspect displayed a handgun outside of the residence. Both suspects fled the scene after the incident, but were located a short time later. Two 15-year-old resident youths were arrested, charged with aggravated assault, and released to their parents pending trial.

In the early morning hours of Sunday, July 9, officers responded to a report of a suspiciously occupied vehicle in the 7700 block of Ora Court. As the officers approached the vehicle, they noticed a quantity of suspected crack cocaine in plain view inside the vehicle. After placing the vehicle occupant under arrest, the officers located inside the vehicle a quantity of suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia. The suspect, a 25-year-old man, was charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of cocaine, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. He was held on $35,000 bond pending trial.

An officer stopped a vehicle in the area of Greenbelt Road and Southway on Sunday, July 9, for a registration violation. A computer check revealed the driver to have an open warrant with the Prince George's Sheriff's Department. A search of the vehicle uncovered a quantity of suspected marijuana. The suspect, a 36-year-old non-resident man, was arrested, charged with possession of marijuana, and released pending trial. Upon release, he was taken into custody by the Sheriff's department due to the open warrant.

Two incidents involving drugs occurred at Eleanor Roosevelt during the week. The first took place on Monday, July 10. The school resource officer observed two suspicious youths, one of which was stuffing something into his sock. The officer located marijuana on one suspect, who fled the scene on foot. The officer broke his foot as he started to chase the suspect. The second suspect was ordered onto the ground and searched. A quantity of suspected "crack" cocaine was found in the suspect's possession. The 16-year-old non-resident youth was arrested and charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and possession of cocaine. The suspect was released to a parent pending trial.

The second incident occurred on Thursday, July 13, when two suspects were stopped by a school administrator during an investigation of a fight. A quantity of suspected marijuana and an electronic pager were found in their possession. One suspect, a 17-year-old non-resident youth, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of an electronic pager on school grounds. The second suspect, a 17-year-old non-resident youth, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of an electronic pager on school property and assault. Both suspects were released to the custody of parents pending trial.

Two resident men were arrested on Thursday, July 13, and charged with possession of open alcoholic beverages in public. An officer patrolling Centerway observed the suspects with open cans of beer. Both men were released on citation pending trial.

Officers responded to a report of people on the roof of Greenway Center on Saturday, July 1. An officer observed three people jump off the roof and flee the area on foot. One suspect was apprehended in the area of Hanover Parkway and Ora Glen Drive. A second was brought to the station by a parent a short time later. The two suspects, one 17-year-old resident youth and one 16-year-old resident youth, were arrested, charged with trespassing, and released to a parent pending trial. The investigation into the third suspect is continuing.

The report of a child crying resulted in officers responding to a residence in the 7900 block of Lakecrest Drive. The officers found two children, two years of age, inside the residence without adult supervision. The mother returned home approximately one hour later. The 28-year-old resident female, was arrested, charged with child neglect, and released on citation pending trial.

Thefts

Burglars forced open a door knob of a residence in the 9300 block of Edmonston Road on Saturday, July 8. A television, VCR and stereo equipment were taken.

The investigation continues into a small fire which occurred in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane on Wednesday, July 12. The fire, which appears to have been deliberately set, caused the sprinklers in a laundry room to discharge.

Two wallets were taken from unsecured purses on Tuesday, July 11. One was taken from an office suite in the 6400 block of Ivy Lane and the second from an office in the 7800 block of Walker Drive.

Auto Thefts

A silver 1990 Ford Econoline van was reported stolen on Friday, July 7, from the 9200 block of Edmonston Road. The vehicle was recovered on July 12 by Prince Georges County Police in the 4800 block of 53rd Avenue. No additional information is available at this time.

An officer stopped a vehicle in the area of Mandan Road and Mandan Terrace for a traffic violation on Friday, July 7. A computer check revealed the license plates were reported stolen in Washington, D.C. A 27-year-old non-resident man was arrested, charged with theft and driving on a suspended license. The suspect was released on citation pending trial.

A white two-door Honda Accord was reported stolen on Tuesday, July 11, from the 7400 block of Greenbelt Road. The vehicle was recovered on July 12 by Prince Georges County Police in the 7600 block of Riverdale Road. No arrests were made.

Vandalism to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of vehicles were reported in the following areas; 6100 block of Breezewood Drive, 9200 block of Edmonston Drive, 6000 and 7000 blocks of Greenbelt Road, 7500 block of Greenway Center Drive, 6400 block of Ivy Lane (two incidents), and 28 Court of Ridge Road.

New Carrollton Library Hosts Ellington Exhibit

The unique musical legacy and illustrious career of Duke Ellington are the subjects of "Beyond Category: The Musical Genius of Duke Ellington," a national traveling exhibition opening July 27 at the New Carrollton Library, 7414 Riverdale Road, New Carrollton.

"Beyond Category" traces the primary influences and ideas found in Ellington's music. It examines his roots in the rich African-American musical culture of turn-of-the-century Washington, D.C., his success in New York City where he was exposed to a broad range of musical styles, international travels with the Ellington Orchestra, experiments in the recording studio, and the deeply spiritual compositions of his later years. An interactive videodisc unit traveling with the exhibition will allow visitors to see and hear instrumental and vocal soloists who worked with Ellington, among them Ben Webster and Clark Terry.

"Beyond Category" will be on display through September 7. Admission to the exhibition is free; however, donations are welcome. Posters, books and compact discs will be on sale throughout the exhibition at the library's bookstore. For information on the exhibition call 699-3500.

Sign Language interpretation and other accommodations for individuals with disabilities will be made upon request.

Restaurants

Fuddruckers or Appleby's. The city would be able to decide which restaurants used the building, both now and in the future.

Residents' Concerns

"We are trying very, very hard to be a good neighbor" said Colton. He told the council that the developers were trying to minimize any disturbance to the homeowners of the adjacent neighborhood, Windsor Green. He stated that landscaping would be added to prevent residents from seeing the building from the first floors of their houses. On their second floors, residents would be able to see the building but not the surrounding parking lots. The parking lot lamps would not shine light upward.

Colton had met with some Windsor Green residents to get their views on the development. He said that the homeowners had suggested putting a path and landscaping on the berm which presently divides the lot from Windsor Green.

Colton also addressed questions about noise. He said that the restaurants would not have any outside loudspeakers to call patrons in, only buzzers. He stated that alcohol is only a small portion of the restaurant's business, and that other restaurants owned by Outback and Fuddruckers have had virtually no disturbances in which they were forced to call in the police. Colton did not believe that there would be any traffic or parking problems.

In answer to council's question, Colton read out the opening times for the proposed restaurants. Fuddruckers closes at 11 p.m. on weekdays and midnight on weekends. Outback closes at 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 11:30 p.m. on weekends; Appleby's closes at midnight on weekdays and one a.m. on weekends. Colton said that the city could choose to have Fuddruckers on the site rather than Appleby's.

Views on the Project

Greenbelters expressed a variety of views on the proposal. Councilmember Thomas X. White shared Colton's belief that Greenbelt needs these types of restaurants, but added that the developers need to be sensitive to the residents' concerns.

Mayor Antoinette Bram was concerned about whether the restaurants would be able to survive and whether they would cause too much competition for existing Greenbelt restaurants. She said that the developer needs to be concerned not only with the nearby residents but also with the development's effect on the city as a whole.

"Does this belong in a residential area?" asked Sheldon Goldberg, president of the Windsor Green Association. He said that the association had not yet taken a position on the proposal, but that he was personally opposed to the idea. He believed that the restaurants would bring in too many people, and he was disturbed that the restaurants would be open on evenings and weekends. An office building would be better, he said, as offices would be open only during the daytime, when residents are generally not home.

Roberta McCarthy stated that the APB is not opposed to having more restaurants in the city, but that it is against having those restaurants placed near residences.

Two Greenbelters spoke in favor of the project. Katherine Adelaide of Crescent Road presented a petition signed by herself and nine of her neighbors. Adelaide liked the idea of the restaurant being one story high, and she also confessed with a laugh, "Okay, I want to go to the Outback Steakhouse."

Former Greenbelt Mayor and County councilmember Richard Castaldi also like the idea of having more family restaurants in Greenbelt. Castaldi, who lives on Kara court, called the proposal "a good compromise."

The city council agreed to meet again with Herl and Colton after the nearby residents have stated their views on the matter.

Spotlight on the Arts

by Frank Pearlman

Greenbelt Arts Center's next production, "Caught in the Villain's Web," promises to be an evening filled with beautiful belles, heroes, dastardly villains, and scheming matrons. This action-filled drama is filled with both mystery and romance.

In this production, you will meet: Felicity Fair, who is a persecuted heroine. She is more sinned against than sinning; Malvern Larkfield who is a manly-bosomed hero, who raises stinkweeds in hope of growing a medicinal herb. Also, Regina Larkfield who is Malvern's cold-hearted mother who schemes to get Malvern to marry someone who is shallow and artificial; Nella Hargrave who plans to double-cross the hero, and Cyril Bothingwell, steeped in villainy who will stop at nothing to gain foul ends.

What will happen to these characters when they are caught up to their necks in love and larceny? For the rest of the story, Herbert E. Swayne's "Caught in the Villain's Web," is a must to see. It is directed by A.C. Mendenhall and appears on stage each Friday and Saturday, including July 21, 22, 28, 29 and August 4, 5, at 8 p.m. If you don't want to miss any of our villain's dirty tricks or the hero's deeds, make your reservation by calling 441-8770.

Auditions

Greenbelt Art Center's new season opens on September 22 with "Jake's Women" by Neil Simon. This comedy will be directed by Ed Starr. Auditions will be conducted on Monday and Tuesday, July 24 and 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Art Auction

The auction will be held on Wednesday evening, August 9 at the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department. Preview time is 7 p.m.; the auction will begin at 8 p.m. This is a fun-filled evening that not only provides you with a chance to bid on fine works of art at a good price... you can also enjoy complimentary wine and hor d'oeuvres, and maybe win a fabulous door prize. There are over 20 door prizes, including dinners at Jasper's Prospect Hill Plantation, and the Penthouse Restaurant. Also, tickets to Allenberry's Playhouse, Toby's Dinner Theater and the Wayside Theater will be given away. Overnight accommodations at the Greenbelt Marriott, the Red Fox Inn, the Georgetown Inn, the Westminister Inn, Doubletree Guest Suites, and much, much more are included in the give-aways.

GHS Class of 1945 Holds Fun-filled Golden Reunion

by Marilyn Maryn Spiegel

Fifty Years Ago on June 7, 1945 a senior class of 61 students at Greenbelt High School (GHS) held their graduation exercises in the Center Elementary School auditorium. Last month 41 of these graduates and their spouses met for a Fifty Year Reunion.

What made this particular reunion so special is the fact that most of the graduates were "early Greenbelters" and had been classmates since fourth grade in elementary school. A number of the Berwyn and Beltsville students had also known each other for a long time; some were cousins.

The Class of '45 was the bright and shiny example of living in a model community which encouraged youngsters to play fair, do their best, and grow up to be model citizens. "Above all," stated classmate Lois DeJager Chesser, "we had strong moral values."

Indeed, the class of '45, which suffered through World War II, and lost family members and classmates during the war, has never lost sight of their fine character training and education. While no graduate has become a millionaire, written a hit tune or a best seller, no one has been a public burden or a criminal.

Like their parents before them, most of the graduates remained in this area and sought work with the local, state and federal government. Some of the members of the class were successful in their own business, and several members of the class became professionals in engineering, social work and teaching. In discussing what they did since graduation, each member of the class had an opportunity to "tell it all."

In spite of the fact that no one attended 8th grade in Prince Georges County in those days, members of the class stated that they felt that their schooling offered a good preparation for their future lives. Minus television, calculators and computers the graduates organized, evaluated and self-actualized.

Paul Strickler, class president, thanked the Reunion Committee—Donnie and Lucy Wolfe, Ellen Gussio Domchick, James Bordas, Joyce Bates Mangum, George Neumann, Barbara Leesnitzer Marsh, and Marilyn Maryn Spiegel. A special thanks was offered to Ellen Domchick, class secretary, for her faithful work with all previous reunions and in keeping track of class members.

Donnie Wolfe, a dynamic force in heading all the class reunions,

Budding City Scientists Win Science Fair Honors

Michael Wilson, 6th grader at Greenbelt Elementary School, placed first in a special award category "Excellence in Physical Science", at the Prince Georges County schools "Kids for Science" fair. The fair held May 5-6 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School was attended by 450 3rd to 6th grade county competitors. Wilson's project compared mammal hairs, using an electronic microscope.

Other city winners included John Norden, Greenbelt Elementary, who placed second in the fifth grade category and Rachel Mirsky, Magnolia Elementary, who won honorable mention in the third grade category. John's project was comparing weights.

expressed his sorrow in acknowledging the eleven members of the class who had passed away.

Violet Younger Cook and Dorothy Armacost Meir, two of the former G.H.S. faculty members who were unable to attend due to ill health, sent their greetings and best wishes for continued reunions. Will there be another reunion? Among the grey and greying 65 year old graduates of GHS '45 there was a whisper of hope for future reunions. Note: The present Greenbelt Middle School Building was in use as Greenbelt

High School from 1938 - 52. There were a total of 13 graduating classes.

Keva Marable's family and teacher share in her happiness at winning several awards at Greenbelt Elementary School's awards assembly. With Keva are sixth grade teacher Donna Sturgill and Keva's parents and brother, Kevin.

For Sixth Graders June 14 Was a Day to Remember

by Barbara Likowski

Wednesday, June 14 was the day 97 sixth graders at Greenbelt Elementary School had been gearing towards all year, their graduation from elementary school/awards assembly. It was a happy day with a touch of sadness, too, as students said goodbye to one another after years of working and playing together. Many awards were given that day.

Keva Marable was named winner of the John Van Schoonhoven Excellence in Writing award. This award was presented by Suzanne Plogman, District 2 school board member (Greenbelt's district).

Andrew Phelan and Keva Marable were presented the American Legion citizenship award by Carl Dentinger of Greenbelt American Legion Post 136. Runners up were Loren Derise and John Boyd, Jr.

Academic Achievement

Vice-principal Paulette Watkins gave Presidential awards for outstanding academic achievement to the six students with the highest grade point average: Andrew Phelan, Stephanie Meadows, Keva Marable, Sabrina Smith, John Boyd, Jr. and Makeda Titus.

Other students receiving outstanding academic achievement awards based on their grade point averages were: Davon Akins, Matthew Gregory, Gloria Lefchick, Condrius Mitchell, Christian Packer, Seneca Pappas, Dennis Sweetner and Megan Whiting from Mrs. Sturgill's class.

Also: Loren Derise, Marcus Plummer, LaToya Best, Teaya Perez, Kati Monke, Young George, LaToya Brown, Jerry Cooper, Rastko Popovic, Mike Canavan, Mike Price and Bobby Lorence from Miss Marino's class.

From Mrs. Rosen's class awards went to: Connie Bailey, Sherice Bell, Ryan Cooper, Joanna Finney, Glenda Foster, Grace Gyemfi, LaTonya Jackson, Kelly Lee, Tamika Sanders, Jay Vish, Michael Wilson and Indra Pace.

Presidential awards for outstanding academic improvement were given to Shawnta Snowden, Tony Duckett and Tamika Knox.

Citizenship

FIFTY YEARS AGO CIGARETTE SHORTAGE

January, 1945--At a time when smoking was "in," cigarettes were "out" --out of stock, that is. World War II had caused a cigarette shortage on the home front. While not rationed, the scarce supplies of the "fags" caused tobacco store manager George Bradley to limit the amount placed on sale at any one time. He announced a new system of offering a new supply of cigarettes on sale every hour on the hour. The Greenbelt Cooperator reported that the housewives especially welcomed this change as they found it particularly discouraging to push baby down to the center several times a day and return home empty-handed.

A Greenbelt Gardener

by Rosie Rhubarb

Heat loving plants love this weather so summer flowers are blooming their heads off and summer vegetables are starting to produce. Summer squash and peppers are really starting to come in and soon they and tomatoes will produce in quantity.

Summer squash are at their tender best when they are four to eight inches long (or diameter for patty pan). Remember that they develop quickly so keep an eye on them. If you let them get too big the plant will taper off and then stop production.

There are a limited number of ways you can tastefully cook large squash. Basically there are four things you can do with a large squash:

stuff it, use it in soup, use it in stew, or grate it up for use in bread or pancake type recipes. (Check your favorite cookbook for details.)

Peppers and tomatoes grow fast in this heat for they are growing 24 hours a day. peppers often will not produce little fruits from flowers when it is very hot. but don't worry, they will be fine once the extreme heat passes. Peppers will keep growing till the first frost.

Some tomatoes may develop deep cracks. There isn't a disease behind this, it is from wide fluctuations of moisture. A dry spell followed by a sudden downpour can cause this. To avoid cracks keep the plants from drying out by watering when it gets dry.

Citizens Protest Tree Loss For Community Center Lot

by Heather E. Peterson

Greenbelters expressed their concern about the construction work on the Community Center parking lot at the July 10 city council meeting.

Ester Webb presented a petition from 150 citizens, stating that she had collected 90 of the signatures during one hour at the Co-op. The petitioners hoped to prevent more trees from being damaged during the building of the parking lot.

Protecting Trees

The parking lot is being built to the west of the former Greenbelt Center School in order to provide more parking space for the city's new Community Center, which will open next fall. After witnessing the destruction of several trees during the building of the parking lot, Esther Webb and her petitioners were worried that more trees would be damaged.

Councilmembers mentioned that they had previously discussed this matter at their July 5 work session. At that time, the subject was raised by Elihu and Yvette Boldt.

The petition asked that the trees which were removed be replaced, that no further trees be destroyed, and that the bulldozers operate no closer than the trees drip lines.

"We want very much to err on the side of utmost protection," said Webb.

Action Taken

City Manager Daniel Hobbs said that a full report was being prepared for the council on action which had been taken since the July 5 work session. In summary, he said that all the fences protecting the trees had been moved out to the drip lines. The city staff was also prepared to make minor changes to the parking lot plan in order to prevent future damage to the trees. In addition, trees will be planted when landscaping is added to the parking lot. Hobbs emphasized that all of the trees which were removed had been scheduled to be taken down in the original plan.

Webb mentioned that Kevin Brown, a Greenbelt resident who is Assistant Director of Ground Maintenance at the University of Maryland, had said that old trees roots extend beyond the drip lines. Brown had therefore suggested that the fences be moved even further from the trees than their drip lines.

At a later point, Webb asked directly, "Will there be any bulldozing inside any drip lines of the trees?"

Deputy City Manager Michael McLaughlin replied, "To the best of my knowledge, no..."

Elihu Boldt echoed Webb in asking that the city bring tree experts in to review the work. Hobbs did not feel that this was necessary, as the city employs its own horticulturalist. However, Mayor Antoinette Bram said that any Greenbelters who have expert knowledge of this area are welcome to offer their suggestions.

Community Center

The Community Center was discussed later in the meeting when Cathy Salgado presented a request for playground equipment funds. Salgado, who is the Community Center Supervisor, mentioned that during daytime weekdays the playground will only be available for the use of the nursery school and the Recreation Department. At other times, the playground will be open to the public.

Salgado said that the Community Center might open on the first weekend of October. That date is important in the city's history because the first residents moved to Greenbelt in early October 1937.

Other Matters

A handful of matters were discussed by the council at the meeting:

The council gave tentative approval to the Lakewood Storm Drainage plan. Affected residents will be given the opportunity to meet with city staff and review the plan.

A liquor license was requested by Jose Flores of the Armadillo Carry-out in Beltway Plaza. Flores hopes to sell Spanish-type beer at his Jamaican food restaurant. The beer would be sold for use only on the site.

The council gave no recommendation, as they were split in their reaction. Councilmembers Thomas X White and Edward Putens recommended that no position be taken. Councilmember Rodney Roberts and Mayor Antoinette Bram rejected the proposal, feeling that too much alcohol is already sold at Beltway Plaza. Councilmember Judith Davis was not present at the meeting, as she is out of the country.

Tracy Vincent received an award from the Prince Georges County Municipal Association for her work with recycling. Vincent, who is the city's Recycling Coordinator, devised Greenbelt's new recycling program.

Congratulations!!! Domino's Pizza In Greenbelt

We are now a locally owned company dedicated to the Greenbelt community. Although we are proudly a franchise of Domino's Pizza and committed to serving you with the best product available, we never forget that we are part of the community. We are dedicated to helping our local community through "Community Service", "Group Discounts", "Fundraising Assistance", and "Reinvesting in our Local Community".

If we can ever do anything to better serve you and your organization or your business please give us a call and ask to speak to the manager or owner. We sincerely thank you for the opportunity to serve you and your family.
